

Hello! Stephanie Dolan here. I'm the Director of Development at the Pov. Everyday, I feel so lucky to work with this amazingly dedicated team and meet with the big-hearted community of supporters who care so much about helping our most vulnerable neighbors.

I'm a relative newcomer to the area, lucky enough to settle here in Missoula (from Brooklyn, NY) right before the world turned upside down in 2020. Prior to that, I've spent nearly 2 decades working in NYC nonprofits in economic and community development, advocating on behalf of disadvantaged communities. My work has always focused on support for people experiencing poverty, to access resources to feed their families, find and stay in their homes, secure jobs with career pathways and meaningful wages, and open and grow their businesses.

I'm really in love with this town and I'm honored to serve this special community. When I'm not working I love meeting folks pursuing my other endeavors. In the winter you can find me playing hockey and cross country skiing and in the summer fishing or paddling our local rivers with my husband and 3 dogs, Rufus, Willie, and Charlie.
