

Karen Moore graduated from Billings Central Catholic High School and moved to Missoula in 2003 to study business and accounting at the University of Montana. She had every intention of moving far out of the state right after college; however, as has happened to many 'accidental' Missoulians, she just couldn't leave the mountains, rivers, and overall raw beauty of Montana. Over the past 20 years, Karen has worked in the hospitality industry throughout Missoula, including serving & bartending, management, and events. She has spent the past 11 years at the Holiday Inn Missoula Downtown, where she currently manages their catering and conference services. Karen loves welcoming and supporting the various groups; from local to international, she helps them realize their goals for large conferences, small meetings, weddings and other social events, and so much more.

Karen enjoys spending time with her husband, Brandon, and bonus daughter, Hagen, all over Montana, but her heart is happiest when they are camping in the Beartooth Mountains outside Red Lodge, MT. Karen is an avid NFL fan and has cheered for the Philadelphia Eagles since long before it wasn't embarrassing to do so. Go Birds!
