

Bio – Danny Oberweiser

While growing up in Deer Lodge I found myself at every Griz football game where I fell in love with Missoula and knew I'd one day call it home. I finally made my way back, by way of; a Business degree at UM Western in Dillon, an Apprentice Golf Pro in Billings, and a Civil Engineering degree at Montana Tech in Butte, and for the last 10 years I've worked for IMEG Corp. (formally Territorial-Landworks) where I'm a Senior Project Designer specializing in Land Use Planning and Subdivisions. I'm a proud dad to a 3-year-old boy Pete and a 2-month-old girl McGuire. My wife Alyssa, a lifelong Missoulian, and I have sunk our roots deep and want to be a part of Missoula's every growing and changing community. And before you ask if I'm related to "insert first name" Oberweiser, the answer is Yes! But I'd still love to hear how you know them.
